IN THE NEWS

Manfield Market Assessment

The market has taken an upward turn this morning after what appears to be a reversal in colder weather on the back half of the 11-15 day weather forecast, with warmer weather appearing in Northeast. We will probably see a few days of normal temperatures before the models suggest another round of cold weather. Production is around 111.5 Bcf/day and holding steady. There is a lot of volatility in the market and with elevated prices, the swings both up and down are going to be more pronounced....

NGN: Bulls Eye $5.992—Will Dec Warmth Spoil the Rally?

Natural gas futures surged last week, with the January '26 contract (NGF26) jumping 9.05% to settle at $5.289/MMBtu—the highest weekly close for this contract since early April. The move was driven by colder-than-expected weather, tightening storage fundamentals, and record-setting LNG demand. After trading in a wide range between $4.758 and $5.496, the contract closed firmly above its 52-week moving average, flipping sentiment bullish and shifting the market into a tighter regime....

EU Finalizes Agreement to Completely Halt Russian Gas

The European Union has reached a landmark provisional political agreement that will permanently halt the import of Russian natural gas and initiate a complete phaseout of Russian oil supplies. This joint decision by the European Parliament and the Council marks a transformative shift in Europe's energy strategy, aiming to eliminate the EU's long-standing dependence on a supplier that has repeatedly disrupted energy stability, used energy as a tool of pressure, and undermined the region's economic security....
